

INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS

ADMISSIONS

International students attend the University of California, Davis from many countries around the world. We have an international student population of approximately 2,221 students representing over 90 countries, in addition to visiting international faculty and researchers. To be eligible for admission to the university, international students need to meet specific academic and financial qualifications.

AM I AN INTERNATIONAL STUDENT?

You are considered an “international” or “non-immigrant” applicant if you need a visa in order to live and study in the United States. If you are a U.S. citizen, permanent resident or refugee, you will not be considered an international applicant even if you currently reside outside the United States.

If you are a U.S. citizen, permanent resident or refugee who has foreign records, you may still need to show English proficiency. Please contact a UC Davis international admissions specialist if you need clarification.

WHEN AND HOW DO I APPLY?

The UC Davis academic calendar consists of three quarters: fall, winter and spring. You must apply for admission to a specific quarter during the designated filing period.

UC Davis accepts freshman and transfer students for fall quarter admissions. Please note that our campus filing periods for winter and spring may vary from other UC campuses.

UC Davis Application Periods

	Fall 2010	Winter 2011	Spring 2011
Filing Period	November 1-30, 2009	July 1-31, 2010	October 1-31, 2010
Open/Closed Status	OPEN	CLOSED	CLOSED

You may submit an online application from the University of California Web site at www.universityofcalifornia.edu/apply. Please do not use old application forms; doing so will delay processing and inconvenience you.

APPLYING TO UC DAVIS AS AN INTERNATIONAL STUDENT

International students must meet the same eligibility requirements and will be included in the same selection process as U.S. students. If you have attended both foreign and U.S. schools, both your foreign and U.S. courses and grades will be considered. You may also be required to demonstrate English proficiency.

You may apply for admission as a freshman or a transfer. You are a freshman applicant if you have completed secondary school and have not enrolled at any college or university. You are a transfer applicant if you have completed secondary school and enrolled in a college or university. You may not disregard your college record and apply as a freshman.

Helpful tips

- If you are completing secondary school (high school) in a country that follows the British system of education, you must be planning to complete your Advanced Levels prior to entering UC Davis. Although we may grant university-level credit for A levels with high scores, you will still be considered a freshman applicant.
- If you attended high school in a country that follows the British system of education and took Advanced Level examinations you must also report your A-level subjects and scores.
- When you apply you will be required to report all course work from all schools you have attended (even if you do not think the courses will transfer). You must report foreign course work as it would appear on your foreign record. Do not translate foreign grades to U.S. grades or use an evaluation done by a private evaluation company or another school on your application. UC Davis has trained international specialists who are familiar with educational systems outside of the United States and will work directly with your foreign subjects and grades.

DO I QUALIFY FOR FINANCIAL AID?

International students are invited to apply for various scholarships through the University of California application for undergraduate admissions and scholarships. You may also be eligible for fellowships, loans or grants, including those administered by the campus, the University of California and private organizations. Financial aid is available to eligible non-citizens with the exception of students holding the following visa types: F1 or F2 Student visas, J1 or J2 Exchange Visitor visas or G Series visas. In addition to obtaining scholarships, many UC Davis students find part-time jobs, both on and off campus, with the assistance of our Student Employment Center.

WHAT ARE THE TUITION AND FEES?

UC Davis costs much less than comparable private universities for the same world-class education, and the city of Davis is more affordable than most UC communities. Non-immigrants holding the following valid visa types — A, E, G, H-1, H-4, I, K, L, N, NATO, O-1, O-3, R or V — may be eligible for California residency along with U.S. citizens, permanent residents and refugees. Non-immigrants with F or J status are generally considered non-California residents for tuition purposes. Your residency status for tuition purposes will be determined by the Office of the University Registrar after you are admitted to UC Davis. Please visit the Office of the University Registrar's Web site at registrar.ucdavis.edu for more information about residency requirements.

2009-10 Costs in Comparison to a Major Private University in Northern California*

*Campus student budgets are determined using a combination of known institutional charges and results from the systemwide Cost of Attendance Survey (COAS). "Other Costs" include health insurance (optional), books and supplies, room and board in an on-campus residence hall, personal expenses and transportation. Please visit admissions.ucdavis.edu/finances/cost for more detailed information.

WHERE WILL I LIVE?

91 percent of freshmen and 19 percent of all undergraduates live on campus. As a single student entering UC Davis, you're guaranteed a year of housing when you meet all required campus deadlines.

Students with children should contact Student Housing up to a year in advance to be placed on a waiting list or Orchard Park and Solano Park Apartments. Visit housing.ucdavis.edu for more information about campus housing availability.

RESOURCES FOR INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS

Coming to a large university can be a huge adjustment for anyone. If you'll be adapting to an entirely new country and culture as well, the pressure might seem overwhelming! UC Davis can help you make the transition to living and studying in the U.S. with a number of resources designed to address the concerns of international students.

- Our International Student Portal at intlstudents.ucdavis.edu provides you with an overview of campus resources and quick answers to get your started on the road to your UC Davis degree.
- UC Davis Services for International Students and Scholars can help with visa regulations, tuition and fee payment and adjustment to American life. Learn more at siss.ucdavis.edu.
- International House offers programs and classes both for international students and for Americans interested in meeting people from other countries. Take a class in English or another language. Celebrate your traditional holidays. Both students and students' families are welcome to participate in International House's groups and activities. Please visit the International House Web site at www.internationalhousedavis.org.

- Achieve a score of 6 or higher on the IB, Standard Level examination in English (Language A).
- Achieve a score of 560 or higher on the SAT reasoning test, writing section.

INFORMATION FOR FRESHMAN APPLICANTS

1. Non-immigrant freshman applicants studying in the United States must meet the same criteria as domestic freshman applicants (see Freshman Admission Criteria below). If you have been studying in the United States for less than two years and your native language and school language of instruction prior to your study in the United States were not English, you must demonstrate English proficiency (see English Proficiency Criteria above).
2. Freshman applicants currently studying outside of the United States must be completing secondary school and earning superior marks in academic subjects. You must also take the SAT/ACT exams. Generally we will look for the same academic subjects and exams on all applications, regardless of country of origin, though our review is flexible given the variations in foreign educational systems (see Freshman Admission Criteria below). UC Davis has trained specialists familiar with foreign curriculums, grading scales and educational philosophies.

If your native language and school language of instruction are not English, you will also be required to demonstrate English proficiency (see English Proficiency Criteria above).

INFORMATION FOR TRANSFER APPLICANTS

If you have studied at or are currently studying at a U.S.-accredited university or college, or a foreign university or college that is recognized by UC Davis, then you will need to apply as a transfer student. Students coming from a British-patterned educational system who have completed only Advanced Levels should apply as freshman applicants.

1. Non-immigrant transfer applicants studying in the United States must meet the same criteria as domestic transfer applicants (see Transfer Admission Criteria below). If you have been studying in the United States for less than two years and your native language and school language of instruction prior to your study in the United States were not English, you must demonstrate English proficiency (see English Proficiency Criteria above).
2. Transfer applicants coming directly from foreign universities or colleges will need to have completed at least two years of full-time study, receiving excellent marks prior to transferring to UC Davis. You will need to meet the same criteria as applicants studying in the United States (see Transfer Admission Criteria below). However, we will be flexible given the variations in foreign educational systems. UC Davis has trained specialists familiar with foreign curriculums, grading scales and educational philosophies.
3. Our UC Davis Transfer Admission Guarantee (TAG) program offers transfer students a written guarantee of admission to UC Davis, one year in advance, in the major of their choice. The agreement, prepared by California community college (CCC) transfer students with their CCC counselors, outlines the classes and grades required to guarantee admission to UC Davis. TAGs are available at all California community colleges. Please visit admissions.ucdavis.edu/admissions/tr_tag.cfm for additional information about our UC Davis TAG program.

If your native language and school language of instruction are not English, you will also be required to demonstrate English proficiency (see English Proficiency Criteria above).

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

Many applicants to the University of California present records from schools in the United States and abroad. These “mixed” records are the most difficult to assess. The following list of frequently asked questions is meant to provide general advice. For additional information, applicants should contact the international admissions specialist at each UC campus they are considering attending, as requirements may vary.

I have completed coursework at schools in a foreign country. Must I list those schools on my application?

Yes. Applicants are required to list all schools, colleges, and universities attended on their application for admission. Applicants must also report dates of attendance and any diplomas or degrees earned. It is a serious matter when applicants withhold information about their academic record. Not providing complete information could jeopardize admission.

I attended a school in a foreign country a long time ago and do not think I can obtain records. What should I do?

The University of California requires applicants to submit academic records from all institutions attended, beginning with the ninth grade. It takes a substantial amount of time to get records from some countries. For that reason, we encourage students to begin requesting academic documents early in the admissions process. When there is evidence of political upheaval or natural disaster we recognize it may not be possible to obtain records. However, these situations are rare.

I have copies of my foreign academic records. Can these be used for admission?

Yes. Unofficial records are used to make preliminary admission decisions. Applicants are advised to send copies directly to UC Davis International Admissions after they have submitted their application for admission to the University of California Undergraduate Application Processing Service. Admitted students will be required to have official records sent directly to International Admissions from the school they attended.

Will you accept the evaluation of a credential evaluation service?

No. The interpretation of records may vary at individual colleges and universities based on their admission and transfer credit policies. Each UC campus has an international admissions specialist who will evaluate your international records and determine transfer credit.

Do my records need to be translated?

College and university records must be translated.

I attended a university outside of the United States; do I need to provide course descriptions along with my transcript?

Yes. Course descriptions are necessary to evaluate the content of coursework completed in other countries. Many universities can provide students with course descriptions in English. If your university cannot, we will accept your translation.

The secondary school I attended was advanced. Do you award college credit to students from my country?

Transfer credit is awarded to students who have taken the GCE or Hong Kong Advanced Level examinations and earned grades of “C” or higher. UC Davis does not routinely award transfer credit for the German Abitur, the Swiss Federal Maturity Certificate, the Italian Maturita, or the French Baccalaureate.

I earned a degree in my country and now want to continue my studies in the United States; can I apply for undergraduate admission?

If the university determines your degree is comparable to a U.S. bachelor's degree, it may not be possible to apply for undergraduate admission for a second degree. When applications can be considered, the second degree must be in a subject area different from subject of the first degree.

I am having difficulty completing the self-reported academic record section of my application. The educational system in the country where I attended school is different than that in the United States; may I leave this section blank?

No. Admission decisions are based on the information provided in the self-reported academic record. For that reason it is important for you to provide an accurate summary of the coursework you have completed. To do so, you are strongly urged to use grade reports or transcripts; do not work from memory. Incomplete or inaccurate information could jeopardize your admission.

You will need to fill in this section of the application as best you can, listing the individual courses taken, the number of contact hours, credit, or units given, and the grades you earned. List the grades you earned exactly as they were given by your school, be it in numbers, percentages, or words. The university has experienced admission evaluators who are knowledgeable about foreign education systems, including university programs and different grading practices. You may call a UC Davis international admissions specialist for help calculating a grade-point average.
